

The Weather.

rain almost continuously yesterday until Monday last. On Tuesday night it was cold; Wednesday very cold, with some wind; Thursday and somewhat milder, but still To-day warmer.

The month of November has rain on every Sunday, appearance to-day, how we may hope that the first in December will start out different programme.

Cotton Shipments.

Merchant's Wharf-boat, on last, shipped on the J. site 692 bales cotton; on W. Cole Thursday night 48 and on the Blanks Friday 1 bales.

Citizens' Wharf-boat shipping the week 191 bales.

Hunter's 1870 Whisky
bottle and drink at HEXTON'S Club Saloon. Oct 1.

Laces—Handkerchiefs
Corsets, Ladies and Children—underwear, and felt and woolen for ladies and children, there are gains at the

VARIETY STORE.

in mind that the RED HOT does not intend to keep its oct 1

Circuit Court met yesterday. The trial of Thomas in the court having prevented Trimble from opening his case of the regular day. The jury was organized by the treatment of Theodore Pohl as an, and were charged as to duties in the Judge's usual and comprehensive style. Attorney Farish came right.

all at the Variety Store see the handsome display of sets, Vases, and the large assort- China Ware. Oct 14

Yankee Whisky
celebrated Whisky, so valuable medicinal purity and freedom infusing ingredients, is kept in stock at HEXTON BROS.

Family and Fancy Groceries.
A variety of Family and Fancy esat prices that defy competition by syndicate purchasers of theington lots in the southern of the city, has organized corps, and will soon be erect houses. They intend such inducements that small means will be em- to secure homes on living property, so as to make every ressible at all seasons.

WILCZINSKI BROS.

BUY

Dollar's Worth of Goods at

THE VARIETY STORE,
you will have a chance in the and beautiful DOLL.

The Red Hot Store
the largest and best selected stock Goods in Greenville. Oct 1.

Mr. Moon, pastor of the odist Church of Greenville in the past two years, preached well sermon on Sunday last. He has gone to the conference, to await its de- as to his future field of Twenty-five years ago Mrs. An- drew Brown, of Natchez, sent Mrs. H. T. Moore as a bridal gift some most beautiful japonicas. To-day Mrs. Learned, from the same place, and cut from the same bush, sends to her daughter, Miss Mollie Moore, the same evidence of love and affection.—Vicksburg Herald.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FLOUR, FLOUR.

100 barrels of the finest flour sold in this place. I have the two parents—the Minnesota and the Missouri and Illinois flour, and will sell cheaper than any house in town.

River News.

The river is falling at all points above, and here; but there is plenty of water for navigation.

The new steamer Katie Adams built for the Memphis and Arkansas City trade, is about finished and will soon make her first trip.

For on Monday Night.

Rolla Ryan, the greatest character actor of the age, will give one of his extraordinary side-splitting, clothes-ripping entertainments at the Opera House in Greenville on Monday night next, the 4th instant. All who have ever seen or heard Ryan say that he is the most imitable genius living, and combines in his single-footed performance all the best gait of the best actors in the world. He is a better mimic than a mocking-bird, and there is no one so utterly dejected that he can resist the mirth-moving performances of this wonderfully gifted young Texan. But if we were to spread over a column we could not describe what is indescribable—the charm and fascination and exhilaration of Rolla Ryan's entertainments. Go to the Opera House on Monday night and judge for yourselves.

Two of our worthy citizens on Poplar street, Messrs. L. Moyes and Isadore Hexter, have laid substantial sidewalk in front of their lots. Now if the other property owners on the block would follow the good example set by these citizens, we would have dry traveling from Central avenue to Main street at all times. We hope to see the line of sidewalk completed where the gaps are down, and every man on the block stand on his own sidewalk.

The grand aggregated brass band dramatic talent combination of King & Yoder struck us with a performance on Wednesday night; and as the town was hungry for a show, the highly-seasoned programme roared in a very good attendance. The assy, however, panned out but little pay dirt; and the patience of the audience was wasted on a miserable play, miserably performed. There is not an actor in the crowd who is better than an ordinary "supe," and the performance was very flat from beginning to end. We sympathize with these folks if they are in pecuniary distress; but it would be more honorable to take up a collection than to seduce people to pay them for entertainment they are not qualified to furnish.

Second-troy Apples

D. B. O'Bannon, esq., gave us this morning two full-grown and thoroughly ripe apples, plucked from two different trees in his orchard, both of which had borne fruit in June, and which are now bearing the second crop this year.

The Town Clock.

We trust that the suggestion to put a Town Clock on the Temple Building will meet a prompt response from our citizens. We are necessary to purchase it can be raised in a few hours, if any of the building committee, or other citizen, will take the trouble to solicit contributions. Mr. Flanagan has written to manufacturers to ascertain the cost of a clock that will answer the purpose, and when this is known, let us get the clock. It will be a great public convenience—something the town needs and should have. A liberal appropriation for such an object by the Town Council would meet the approval of the citizens.

Big Price for Cotton.

The Vicksburg Herald of the 29th has the following item:

George S. Irving sold to W. E. Campbell fifty bales of cotton raised by Charles A. Allen on the Natchez plantation in Warren county, Mississippi, yesterday, at 16 cents per pound. It was the Allen long staple cotton.

The Fort Worth (Texas) Gazette of the 26th makes this announce- ment:

"Dr. C. W. Lewis, of Greenville, Mississippi, called on the Gazette yesterday. He is in Texas on a prospecting tour."

Well, now, you Texans have got a mighty good man looking at you, and you treat him right. Don't draw any "popper" louder than a cork on him.

General Stewart, of the Oxford University, as might be expected, has denied, emphatically and indignantly, all knowledge of or connection with any such sappho-headed concern as the "Aryan Society," of which he has been erroneously classed as a member.

JAMES DEMAIN, a well-known leaven contractor in this section, died in Greenville on last Monday night, from pneumonia contracted while engaged on leaven work.

A colored shoemaker, known as "Blind Horn," died here Monday night, of dropsy, with which he had suffered for some time.

No planter is happy, as sure as you're born. Who buys his meat, his hay and corn.

Brothers Hunt and Pohl will be receiving collections for the State, county and town until December 13th. Brethren will please step up and chip in.

One great result of Clingstone's performance in the special $3,000 race at Buffalo last August seems to have been entirely overlooked. The time made in the three heats—2:14, 2:16, 2:17—is the fastest on record in a race with other horses.

MARRIED

On Nov. 19th, at the residence of Dr. W. E. Satterfield, in Wash- ington county, Miss., by Rev. L. Ball, Mr. EDWARD W. SCOTT, formerly of Warren county, Miss., and Miss LUTIE C. MOSELY, of Cape Girardeau, Mo.

In Vicksburg, at Holy Trinity Church, on Nov. 29th, by Rt. Rev. W. F. Adams, Mr. T. R. FORSTER and Miss MOLLIE S. MOORE, daughter of Mr. H. T. MOORE, County Superintendent of Education.

Twenty-five years ago Mrs. An- drew Brown, of Natchez, sent Mrs. H. T. Moore as a bridal gift some most beautiful japonicas. To-day Mrs. Learned, from the same place, and cut from the same bush, sends to her daughter, Miss Mollie Moore, the same evidence of love and affection.—Vicksburg Herald.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that was enough to make a man sick; but he didn't sit down and weep. He got up and got. He turned his back on the dying town, and struck out for one that was living and leaping. He has now a fine hotel in Fort Smith, and is "flying high" once more. Success to him.

Colonel Isaac A. Newman, formerly of Greenville, Mississippi, more recently of Eureka Springs, Arkansas, has now taken charge of a hotel at Fort Smith, Arkansas, and is booming. Can't keep a good man down. When Eureka Springs flashed out, Ike suffered a temporary collapse in loss of property that